Everything around us carries the signature of unseen forces. The plants, the animals, and the people, not to mention celestial bodies such as the planets, the sun and the stars, all work by energy and electromagnetism.

We're swimming in this soup of exchange and interaction, every minute of every day. It affects us in multiple ways, often unbeknownst to us – we then translate these feelings and even ideas as our own, turning them into moods, attitudes and behaviours.

How may one detect these influences, separating oneself out from them? We will be exploring this in Saturday's workshop as a necessary step towards a conscious and self-determined life.
