

The Emin Way Presents

Discover the Message of the Stars - Part II

Why do we humans love staring up at the stars at night?

It has been said...

"If you want to understand the universe, study the human design.
If you want to understand the human, look to the order of the universe."

Even though the immensity of the starry world can make us feel small and insignificant, we are each designed with the capacity to be a creative agent within this universe.

You are invited to join us on Sunday as we explore the mysteries of this universe and the message it holds for us as humans living within it here on planet earth.
